April 26, 2018 | Publications

JSH Partners Phillip Stanfield and David Stout, along with research support provided by JSH summer associates, served as contributing authors for the Arizona chapter of USLAW NETWORK's National Compendium of Law. The Compendium is a multi-state resource that provides easy access to state common and statutory law regarding a variety of litigation-oriented issues. In addition to chapters devoted to 44 states and their respective jurisdictions, general sections in the Compendium include: pre-suit and initial considerations; negligence; discovery; evidence, proofs and trial issues; and damages.

In addition to the National Compendium, USLAW regularly produces new and updates existing Compendiums, which are easily sourced on a state-by-state basis and are developed by the member firms of USLAW. Current Compendiums include: Retail, Spoliation of Evidence, Transportation, Construction Law, Workers' Compensation, Surveillance, Offer of Judgment, Employee Rights on Initial Medical Treatment, and many more.

USLAW NETWORK (USLAW), is an international organization composed of more than 60 independent, full practice firms with roots in civil litigation. USLAW member firms are some of the most highly-respected law firms in their jurisdictions. JSH is proud to be the only Arizona firm that is a member in the USLAW Network. Each member firm is admitted only after passing substantial due diligence investigation and is rigorously reviewed to ensure it meets USLAW quality service standards.
